

SATURN SQUARE NATAL NORTH NODE

This is a challenging position because not only is Saturn making a Square to the North Node, it is also making a Square to the South Node. The area of life affected by Saturn will depend on the house placement of your North and South Node in the natal Astrology chart. Also, you should check which house Saturn is transiting through as well as Natal Saturn's position and the aspects to it. This will give you all the information you need when it comes to deciphering what this time might produce.

If, by chance, you have Transiting Saturn also in Opposition to a another planet in your natal chart, you now have a Grand Cross which is far more difficult than just the Squares to the Nodes. We will look at the Grand Cross at a later date. It should be noted that a Square is most definitely a difficult aspect, but because of its intensity, it also provides enough energy to push you to work your way through the adversity. Challenges within the chart are put in place for us to overcome and in turn gain insight and valuable information and experience.

The Nodes are often tied to our path ahead, the road to follow (North Node) and what we have brought with us to make this task easier (South Node). These nodes can also represent important people that help us along the way, when activated through transits and progressions. Saturn has to do with challenges and life lessons. Often, we find obstacles in our way of progress, and we must find our solutions to these adversity.

Saturn is known as the task maker and is in place to help you or hinder you in progress, but it does, through its life's lessons, provide you with more stamina and perseverance to stay on course.

Again, the North Node is tied to our path ahead and the goals we have in place to achieve, and Saturn will now make you work for these objectives. As a result, the time during this aspect will most definitely require your attention and attentiveness. There will be stumbling blocks along the way and stress as well especially if you resist the lesson at hand, but with the right attitude and a disciplined effort, you can achieve much from this transit's influence.

With Saturn square natal North Node, you will feel stifled, but with the right approach, Saturn offers stability and structure that can stand the test of time. This is certainly a challenging time, but you can achieve the goals of your life's path.