

SATURN SEXTILE NATAL JUPITER

The transit of Saturn often produces challenging conditions. It indicates difficulties to overcome through life lessons and sometimes delays along the way. Hard work is always part of the process of moving forward and nothing comes easily. We must work for our results when Saturn is involved.

Saturn restricts and delays while Jupiter expands and brings opportunities into play. Under most conditions, Saturn will cause hardships but when connected to Jupiter unless there are other mitigating factors in the chart suggesting otherwise, you will still have to work for your results but there are likely opportunities in place that create easier flow and growth over an extended period of time.

The sextile suggests opportunity and Jupiter opens the door for growth and fortunate conditions along the way. Things may work better than anticipated and the opportunity for expansion is enhanced. Much will depend on the houses involved and the aspects in the natal chart to Jupiter and Saturn.

If both planets are virtually unaspected then the potential for something solid and foundational is in place. If either one of these planets is under stress and the rest of the chart by transit and progression suggests something similar, you will have to work hard for the results you are pushing for. You may not reach the desired conclusion, but the outcome will still likely be beneficial.

If something within the chart is very challenged and has been for some time now, this sextile may expand things and make things worse although the final outcome may seem challenging but it likely will be the best outcome in the long haul.

If the chart is not under any stress, working hard towards your goals is suggested and the results may be magnificent.

Saturn sextile natal Jupiter requires work but in the long run the outcome is likely quite beneficiary. Work towards a goal but build a good foundation for it as you must use these energies wisely.
